The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 7, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Taylor.

Taylor shows a choke with the cage 34 attached to bonnet 38 by member 55 and indexed by pin 52 and recess 56, the stationary disc being fixed to cage 34 by pins 64.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor.

The use of a second pin 52 and recess 56 is considered an obvious duplication of parts.

Claims 10-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor in view of Ko.

Taylor shows the claimed valve except for the details of the disc drive. Ko shows a similar apparatus with extending members 522 as claimed for rotating disc 53. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used such extending members as taught by Ko in the valve of Taylor to increase the torque transmitted, for example.

Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
